Healers have the ability to flow, in the state of meditation or trance healing spiritual energies through their pranic channel leave. Spiritual Healing activates the body's own healing ability and harmonizes the overall health of the people. Any disease or problem is a lack of reference to love. When the body is ready to accept a high spiritual vibration and flow into the cells to let conversion can be done. The energy knows exactly where the corresponding deficit positions are in the aura.

For a healer there is no difference between physical, emotional or mental problems, because on the mental level is all one. A healer is working on the plan of wholeness and perfection of man. This work should not be confused with medical therapies. Symptoms include treatments in the doctor's hand. Healers do not replace the doctor. Spiritual healing may help medical treatments and therapies.

Spirit healing could be described as therapeutic earliest discovery of man. There have always been people who used their intuitive ability to heal others through an exchange of mystical energy. Often this was associated with any rituals.

Mind-cure should not be confused with faith healing. Faith healing requires an unquestioning faith of patients in God, what the spirit of healing is not the case. In the spirit of healing is assumed that man is not only a material body, but at the same time lives on multiple levels of consciousness. Namely, on the material level, on a kind of electromagnetic stage (sensation level), on the intellectual level and on the spiritual level. The spirit healers now heal not just the affected body part, but he brings the energy flow between the different levels of consciousness back into balance, because an imbalance means disease. Disease is defined accordingly as a physical effect of interference on the subtle level.

The working of the spirit healer is different. Some work in deep meditation or trance easily. Others feel energy flowing from their hands (laying on of hands). It focuses on love and the healer intensive care. His soul, his spirit, his whole being yearns to help the sick. The spirit healer becomes a channel for healing energy, which it transmits to the patient.

Every true, dedicated healer must work every day in meditation and prayer in itself, because through this union with the divine laws, he gets the strength to continue to obtain the necessary unity between himself and the patient. In case of repeated advertisements with offers distant healing, which plays a central role at the same time the financial, so doubts about their seriousness are justified.

In England, the cooperation of school doctors and spiritual healers practice. The resulting successes are impressive.
