What is Biopulsar reflex measurement? Thanks to the Biopulsar-Reflexograph can measure represents the energy budgets of humans on the physical, mental and spiritual level, and. Conscious and unconscious thoughts, feelings and consciousness structures affect the different levels of the aura-chakras. Depending on the development of consciousness and the connecting channels are formed, they can be blocked, the result is that certain areas of our energy system to suffer a shortage.

The interaction of body and psyche will be broadcast by the aura and the chakras in dynamic bright colors. Clairvoyant or hellfühlige people can perceive the aura. By representing the dynamic course of the life energy energetic fullness and energy shortages are found, attention is paid to three factors: energy distribution, energy shortages and energy storage, so energetic blockages are identified to resolve with the aim of this and to health at all levels contribute.

The Aura-Chakrenanalyse is an important basis for an integrated life and health advice. Even with the awareness in counseling can heal itself be mobilized, as are relationships between the "body language" and are recognized health and mental hygiene (eg, word and mind control) taken as measures.

An aura photo and the aura Chakrenanalyse are a very good basis for energetic healing, where a holistic approach is to base, body, soul undGeist integrated. An aura photo before and after an energy healing chakra shows the effect of subtle work. The aura photo, the aura Chakrenanalyse and health-diagnostic counseling is not in the traditional sense and not a substitute for medical examinations, treatments and therapies, general medicine, and psychology.

Alternative methods of Reiki, energy healing, chakra work: cleaning and harmonizing the auric energy centers, so that they function optimally again offer up here.
